

An ally for the immune system

Support for the immune system

Helps the body's physiological defenses

CollDefenCe® is a food supplement designed to help the immune system throughout the year. It is based on partially hydrolyzed collagen and high doses of vitamin C and vitamin D, both of which contribute to the normal function of the immune system. Vitamin C also contributes to the protection of cells from oxidative stress and the reduction of tiredness and fatigue.
